

Château Unang Ventoux

Ventoux La Croix 2019

Violets and tar; rusted iron and chocolate. Dense flavours, dense acidity, dense tannins. A sense of waiting-earth anticipation, like a hot tar road running toward the towering black clouds of a storm. The burn of chilli, petrichor, raw cacao. So much power and substance, a smouldering taciturnity.

17.5 pts- Tamlyn Currin, Jancis Robinson, November 2022

Ventoux La Croix 2018

Rich, chocolatey nose with a bit of compost and leather saddle and barnyard. Rich and so on fire with the intense glow of fruit that it tastes like an African sunset. But there is also such a cool corridor of mountains herbs through the palate that, on the finish, all I can taste is petrichor, rain on rocks. Long and quietly, insistently beautiful.

17 pts- Tamlyn Currin, Jancis Robinson, May 2021