

Poggio della Dogana Romagna

Arlesiana Romagna Sangiovese Brisighella DOC 2023

The Sangiovese Brisighella “Arlesiana” from Poggio della Dogana includes five percent of the Cilieggiolo to augment its ninety-five percent Sangiovese. The soils here in Brisighella are chalky sand, with the vineyards sitting at over two hundred meters above sea level. The wine is aged in cement vats for a year prior to bottling. The 2023 version is excellent, offering up a deep and black fruity bouquet of black cherries, dark berries, espresso, a fine base of chalky soil, sweet brown spices and just a hint of balsamico in the upper register. On the palate the wine is deep, fullbodied and ripely tannic, with a fine core of fruit, lovely soil undertow, a good chassis of tannin and fine focus and balance on the long and nascently complex finish. This will need a bit of cellaring time to soften up before it starts hitting on all cylinders, but will be an excellent bottle of Sangiovese in due course. 2031-2055+.

90+ pts– John Gilman, View from the Cellar, April 2026

The nose leads with dark plums and violets mingling with sage and rosemary. The palate shows deeper flavors emerge, plums seem kissed by fire, cherries taste as if they've met the grill, and a thread of woodsmoke weaves through it all. The finish brings a compelling mix of Mediterranean herbs and that lingering smoky char.

92 pts– Jeff Porter, The Wine Enthusiast, December 2025